IV. RESEARCH RESULT

This section the researcher identifies and describes the factor and effect of Jamie Sullivan's self-confident in the novel a walk to remember as below:

Factors

Parenting, Jamie is educated from childhood with norms that apply in religion or what has been taught in the Bible. of course, such parenting fostered a very strong self-confidence in Jamie in living her life, whatever happens, is the best for her according to her god. Jamie grew up to be a religious child too. Keep calm in the face of everything and always bring the book of his mother everywhere.

Family Relation, Family relationships are very influential in a child's personality. Children will be more obedient to what parents teach if their relationship is good. This is also what researchers see in the novel's story. Jamie as an only child loved by her parents. Her parents treated Jamie so well that Jamie felt comfortable with her father. Religious teachings taught by his father were easily accepted by Jamie So that the character of the child is formed. Jamie is very close to her parents.

Maturity, after two factors that the researcher mentioned above, the researcher concluded that Jamie Sullivan's self-confidence in this novel was followed by age maturity. The age of maturity is formed due to two factors that the researchers mentioned above. starting from parenting, where children will get used to parenting parents then continue to the relationship between parents and children so that children are more able to accept whatever has been taught by parents (parenting) and lead to maturity, maturity, ways of thinking and make children more rational in dealing with problems.

Effect

Thinking Positively, Positive thinking makes her excited by living her day. even though Jamie is suffering from a dangerous disease, she is always sure of the miracles that come because she believes in her god.
Dare to say the truth, in this novel there are times when Jamie is required to be honest with Landon about what should have happened. In the beginning, Jamie had warned Landon not to fall in love with her, and when that happened, Jamie also dared to be honest with Landon why he should not love her.

V. CONCLUSION

The researcher concluded that self-confidence is very important to live life and all that, if implemented into real life, will be very beneficial for themselves and others. An important point that researchers took in this study about self-confidence is the relationship between parents and children to shape character and maturity to determine the mindset. The two things are interconnected. When parents and children understand each other, the child's mindset will be wiser in determining direction. This happened to Jamie in the novel.
